

The 11th International Symposium on Microchemistry and Microsystems
(ISMM 2019)

Sponsorship Invitation

(May 17-20, Yangling International Convention Exhibition Hotel)

The 11th International Symposium on Microchemistry and Microsystems (ISMM 2019) is scheduled to be held from May 17th to May 20th, 2019 at the Yangling International Convention Exhibition Hotel in Shaanxi, China. The conference is undertaken by Northwest A&F University, Nanjing University, Fudan University and Zhejiang University. Sixty to one hundred famous scholars will be invited to make an invitation report, and about 600 domestic and foreign scholars will attend the conference. The conference aims to provide a wide range of interdisciplinary academic exchange platforms for scholars engaged in basic, applied and development research in related fields, and promote the in-depth development of related disciplines. The conference will last for 4 days, including the conference report, invitation report, oral report, wall newspaper and other forms of communication. The organizing committee warmly welcomes the submission and exchanges. This conference will also adhere to the tenet of credibility first, as always, we warmly welcome domestic and foreign instruments and chemical reagent companies and enterprises to participate in and guide. The organizer of the conference solemnly promised to provide strong support for enterprises to display their image, develop the market, publicize the latest products and new technologies, and communicate with users on the spot.

The organizer sincerely invites your organization as a support unit to jointly build a cooperation and exchange platform to improve the quality and prestige of this conference, expand the influence of your organization, and jointly promote the development of micro-analysis chemistry.
